GRANDSTREAM TEAMS WITH AAFES TO OFFER IP MULTIMEDIA PHONES WITH FREE VIDEO CALLING TO BRIDGE THE PHYSICAL DISTANCE BETWEEN MILITARY FAMILIES

GRANDSTREAM GXV3140 DELIVERS FACE-TO-FACE COMMUNICATION ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD TO EASE THE ABSENCE OF A LOVED ONE

BROOKLINE, MA (DECEMBER 16, 2009) – Being separated from loved ones, especially during the holidays, is difficult and stressful on military families. Grandstream Networks, the leading manufacturer of IP voice/video telephony and video surveillance solutions, today announced that the Army & Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) will bring Grandstream's GXV3140 IP Multimedia Phone with free real-time video calling capability and instant access to web and social multimedia applications to BX/PX stores nationwide. Active and retired soldiers, airmen, sailors, Marines and their families can purchase these phones to hear and see family and friends during deployment. Using an existing broadband connection anywhere in the world, the GXV3140 offers for no additional fee, face-to-face or three way video calling out-of-the-box.

"We are pleased to play a small role in providing options for military families to stay connected during long periods of deployment," said David Li, CEO of Grandstream Networks. "Being able to communicate visually enhances the quality of one's life and will allow active personnel catch a glimpse of their world back home inexpensively. With the Internet radio stations, online music library, web entertainment and social networking options, personnel can enjoy comforts of life back home by listening to their favorite radio stations back home while maintaining their personal relationships."
